POTTERS URGE SENATORS TO VOTE TARIFF

Union Leaders and Manufacturers go To Washington.

AWAIT COUNT

Bingham Defends Employment of Paid Lobbyist.

Representatives of the United States Potters' association and the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters left last night for Washington in an effort to persuade friends in the senate to support the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill when it comes up for a vote today or tomorrow.

Members of House "Get Drunk" on Job

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(INS)—Members of the house of representatives acted business on the floor while drunk, Senator Frederick H. Gillett (R.) of Massachusetts, former speaker of the house, declared during a speech in the senate today.

His remarks brought a gasp from the senate for their frankness but evoked no protests. He made them during a defense of Senator Bingham (R.) of Connecticut, in debate on the Norris resolution of censure.

"When I was in the other branch (the house) I frequently saw members transacting business under the influence of liquor," said Gillett. "But I did not think it was necessary to adopt a resolution of condemnation."

Five In Delegation

The delegation includes Malcolm W. Thompson, president of the United States Potters' association, Joseph M. Wells of the Homer Laughlin China company, Newell and Charles L. Sebring, of the Lehigh Pottery, Inc., of Alliance, and James M. Duffy and John D. McGilivray, president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters.

Four Russians Arrive. To Make the Dead Sea Pay. Short Skirts Will Stay. Britain Is Cheerful.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE. (Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Four Russian fliers land on Long Island, ending a 12,000 mile flight from Moscow. Col. Lindbergh is there to greet and shake hands with them. He believes in good fliers, no matter whence they come.

HE did not even ask whether the government intended to pay for bonds bought from Czar and Kerensky by Wall Street.

OUR government, which seems to dislike and fear the Russian government, will notice that Russian fliers have been able to come from Moscow to Wall Street.

If four fliers can come now, in one plane, on a friendly errand, why not 4,000 later, in better planes, on an errand less friendly?

SENATOR BLEASE, of South Carolina, says Alfred E. Smith, recently candidate for president, bought 500,000 feet of Russian lumber "for the construction of his new office building and hotel."

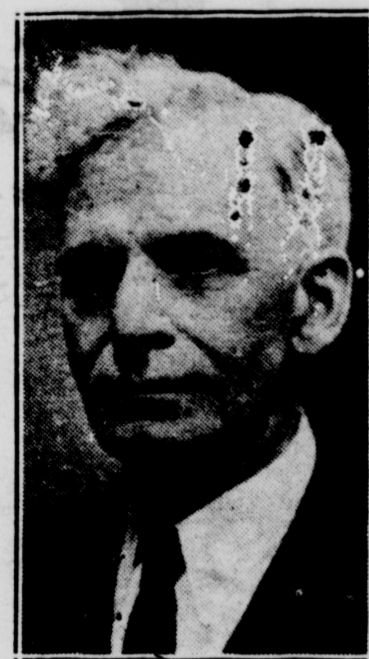

GOVERNOR SMITH disposes of that, replying that he has bought lumber or other building material. He is president of a company that gave a building contract to Starrett Brothers.

AMERICANS had been told that Russia was rushing down hill to economic destruction, like the swine at the edge of the cliff they will wonder how Russian industry can compete successfully with our lumber men.

BRITISH and American interests begin exploitation of potash and other valuable deposits in the Dead Sea, which annoys the Arabs. To see millions in dollars and pounds taken from the thick salt water for the benefit of British and American industries is irritating. But the Mohammedans have had Palestine in their hands for 1,300 years, with

SLAYER DYING AFTER STATE PRISON BATTLE

Guy Tennent and Will Miller Escape.

GUARD SLUGGED

Cellmate of Trio Refuses to Join in Break.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—(INS)—Two convicts drilled, slugged and shot their way to freedom from the Ohio state penitentiary here early today. A third convict, Findlay's famous "milk-bottle" slayer, was so seriously wounded that he is expected to die.

Warden Suspends Battered Guard

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—(INS)—Guard J. R. Montgomery, who was beaten into unconsciousness by the three prisoners in a partly successful delivery from the Ohio state penitentiary here, was suspended by Warden P. E. Thomas a few hours after the daring escape today.

Montgomery, the warden declared, said he saw only one man creeping along the walls and that he fired through the door of his guard tower at the convict. No bullet holes were found in the door, however.

Warden Thomas intimated that Montgomery may have been lax in his duties.

Life-Term Is Shot

Arthur Brooker, 23, who is serving a life-term for murder, is the wounded convict. He succeeded in getting to a railroad right-of-way, about 100 yards from the bastille, where he was found suffering from loss of blood, about four hours after his escape.

Guy Tennent, 32, of Cuyahoga county and Will Miller, 20, of Lawrence county, are the two convicts who escaped and were at large at 8:30 o'clock this morning. Tennent was serving from 10 to 25 years for robbery, having been admitted to the pen July 1, 1925. Miller had begun June 24, 1923.

Another convict, the cellmate of the trio, refused to participate in the break. He is John Kelly, of Meigs county, who is serving a seven-to-15 year term for burglary. Kelly escaped from the Junction City brick plant on December 14, 1928, but was returned to the institution on August 9. He apparently did not wish to take a chance. True to the prisoners' "code," he refused to talk to prison officials today.

Drill Through Cell-Block. The men had smuggled three drills, a brace, and two heavy pieces of steel from the machine shop. They drilled through the top of a cell-block, which heretofore had been regarded as "escape proof."

They made no attempt to conceal their actions. When they gained the top of the cell-block, they threw a large piece of stone down into the street outside of the wall. It hit a street light and broke it. Guard J. R. Montgomery, rushing from his position at a corner tower, was slugged by the men who used a heavy piece of steel. In the fight which ensued on top of the wide prison walls and in the glare of huge searchlights, Brooker was hit by a .38 calibre "dum-dum" bullet.

EIGHT LIVES EXACTED IN OHIO TRAFFIC

Many are Injured in Accidents Over Week-end.

GRIDDERS HURT

Cleveland and Toledo Each Report Two Dead.

The lives of eight persons were snuffed out in Ohio traffic during the week-end, a check-up by International News Service revealed today. Many were injured, including six members of the Van Recreation football team of Toledo.

Two persons were killed in Cleveland and one died as the result of injuries received in an accident at Chagrin Falls. Joseph Zepkowski, 52, was killed and his wife was injured when two automobiles racing side by side down a street struck them. The autoists failed to stop. Three-year-old Dorothy Weigand died from injuries which she sustained when she was struck by a machine. George Arnold, 38, died in a Cleveland hospital after he was hit by a motorist in Chagrin Falls.

Toledo reported two dead. John Boetz, 23, died to death along a road near here when a piece of glass pierced his body under his heart, after his car had careened into a ditch. Catherine Kerscher, 25, his companion, escaped uninjured and was unable to aid Boetz as his life's blood poured from his wound. Max Tebiller, 26, was another traffic victim there.

Two persons, who have been tentatively identified as John T. McAuliffe and Miss Margaret Wilson, both of Sandusky, were killed when their small coupe plunged into a roadside ditch near Lorain.

The eighth Buckeye state traffic victim was Frank Sonnyclaf, 65, of Cincinnati, who was killed when his car skidded into a bridge near Georgetown.

Sheriff Nips Jail Delivery at Lisbon

Four Prisoners go on Bread and Water as Grand Jury Investigates.

LISBON, O., Nov. 4.—Four prisoners in the county jail who made an unsuccessful attempt to escape last Wednesday night, have been denied visitors and mail and placed on a bread and water diet. Sheriff William J. Barlow announced today as the grand jury met in special session to consider charges against them.

They are: John Densmore, East Liverpool, and Raymond Petty, Wellsville, who are charged with forgery, and William Meador and Charles Grimm, of Teogarden, who are charged with robbing Leetonia and North Georgetown stores.

The jail delivery was frustrated when Sheriff Barlow, heard a noise in the cell on the second floor. Investigating he found five bars near the cell door cut. A hook had been made from an iron pipe taken from a cell cot and blankets had been cut into strips, which it is believed that the men intended using in lowering themselves to the ground.

A search of the inside of the cell revealed a saw and several broken pieces of a saw blade.

Police Save $1,000 For Lee Fletcher. Lee Fletcher, 35, Jethro pottery worker, owes his thanks to Patrolman Norman McFarland for saving $1,000, which he carried at the time of his arrest upon a minor charge Saturday night.

Fletcher was arrested in Daisy alley. Fletcher, police said, told them that he had been injured while at work in a pottery about 10 months ago, and, on Saturday, received his compensation check from Columbus for $1,500.

After paying his attorney fees, he had $1,020 left. He had spent about $15 when he was taken into custody. He was fined $16.

Light Vote Is Predicted On State Tax Limit Proposal. Cities, Villages, Townships Await Balloting.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—(INS).—That a relatively light vote will be cast throughout Ohio tomorrow, on the proposed tax classification amendment to the Ohio constitution, is the forecast voiced here today by state election officials. A majority vote will insure adoption of the proposal. If adopted, the amendment will abolish the uniform rule of taxation, as now applicable to both tangible and intangible property, and

HOSPITAL LEVY CAMPAIGN GOES INTO THEATERS

B. H. Cochran and Ben Bennett Speak Tonight.

PRIEST APPEALS

Health Board Asks Approval of Garbage Plan.

East Liverpool voters today awaited the trek to polls tomorrow when they will elect township, municipal and judicial officers, and two members of the board of education and pass judgment upon a proposed state tax limit amendment, and two local issues—a city hospital levy and free garbage collection.

Final pleas for approval of the proposed hospital tax will be made by speakers who will visit three motion picture theaters tonight. Voice of Attorney Blaine H. Cochran will be carried through the vitaphone equipment at the Ceramic theater while Attorney Ben L. Bennett will appear at the American theater. City Solicitor Frank H. Hoover will be the speaker at the State. Theater speakers who urged support of the hospital levy Saturday night were James M. Duffy, president of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, who spoke at the Ceramic; the Rev. Father John L. Maurer, pastor of the St. Ann's Catholic church, who appeared at the American, and Solicitor Hoover at the State.

Spokesmen for the hospital levy today pointed to the need for improvements in the maternity department. This department, on the top floor of the main building consists of eight private rooms, a maternity ward of five beds, delivery room, nursery with 11 beds, kitchen and equipment room. In the delivery room a new obstetrics table and sterilizers have been installed by the Women's auxiliary. Approximately 1,333 babies have been born in this department during the last 10 years, an average of 133 a year.

Board of health representatives renewed their appeal for approval of the proposed half-mill free garbage collection levy. The levy if adopted, will mean an increase of but 50 cents an each $1,000 property valuation, health board officials say.

Registrars will meet in each of the 23 precincts in the city between 5 and 9 o'clock tonight to issue and accept transfers. Judges will convene at 8 o'clock to elect a chairman.

Polls will open at 6:30 a. m. and close at 6:30 p. m., tomorrow.

Mother Held As Her Twin Sons Die

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 4.—(INS)—A mother here today following the death of her twin 3-year-old sons from a mysterious poisoning yesterday, and the serious sickness of two other children in the same family.

Mrs. Eugene Reppy after being questioned by police was held at the matron's quarters here. Elmer Reppy, one of the twins died after being stricken at Cuba, Mo., yesterday. Delmar was rushed to City hospital here where he died. Clarence and Rosy Reppy, 1 year and 4 years old, respectively, are also in the City hospital.

Physicians have little hope for the recovery of the sick children.

Chicago Gangland Kills Man in Auto

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—(INS)—He was sleeping—passersby thought—at the wheel of his parked car. And then a policeman investigated today and learned that gangland had sent another man to his death.

The body of Peter Marrandino, 32, believed to be one of the minor members of an alcohol gang, was found slumped over the wheel of his automobile with a bullet through his head. The shot had been fired from outside the machine and had crashed through the glass.

Tammany Hall Says Walker Will Be Re-elected Tuesday

"Tiger" Claims 550,000 Plurality for "Jimmy."

By James L. Kilgallen.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(INS)—With the booming of heavy political guns and last minute warnings of "double crossing" and "diabolical plots," the mayoralty campaign in New York city drew to a discordant close today.

Tomorrow the voters go to the polls and settle the question: "Will Mayor James J. Walker be re-elected?" Tammany, which is backing the debonair "Jimmy," says "yes, by 550,000 plurality."

Opposed to Walker in the mayoralty battle are:

Fiorello H. La Guardia, Republican-Fusion.

Richard E. Enright, Square Deal party candidate.

Norman Thomas, Socialist.

The Republican-Fusion managers claim victory for La Guardia by 200,000 votes. Enright, former police commissioner, has made no predictions as to the outcome. Thomas' manager declares the Socialist candidate will receive at least 20 per cent of the total vote, or between 200,000 and 250,000 votes. He said Thomas would run ahead of La Guardia by 50,000 or 100,000 votes.

Forest Love

Thrilling Story of Romance of Modern Girl

By Hazel Livingston

What Has Gone Before

Nancy Hollenbeck, though young and beautiful, is poor. Her mother, of a socially accepted family, married a poor man. She warns Nancy against this "mistake." Nancy, becoming cynical, gives up handsome Mat Tully and begins an affair with Jack Beamer, married to wealth. He plans to divorce his wife and marry Nancy. On a trip to Yellowstone, Nancy meets Roger Decatur, a ranger, who falls in love with her. Nancy tells him she will only marry for wealth. She prepares to leave the mountain camp and rejoin her Aunt Ellie.

On a hike with Roger he declares his love and Nancy admits her love for him. When Nancy misses the bus, Roger tells her they will be married at once. Aunt Ellie and Louise, at home with Mrs. Hollenbeck, wonder at Nancy's continued absence. In Reno on their honeymoon, Roger pleads with Nancy to write her mother of their marriage.

Now Go On With The Story.

CHAPTER XVII.

Nancy thought she hated Reno. "We can't leave too soon to please me!" she told Roger, over and over.

"I'll be just as glad to get out here as you'll be, honey," he said, and she knew that he was hurrying, trying to finish the work that had brought him there.

On the fourth afternoon he went over to the Riverside Hotel to meet two government officials motoring south. It seemed funny to think of Roger at the Riverside while she waited in their hot little home on the other side of town.

"I wish we'd gone there, and taken a chance," she told herself for the hundredth time. "It would have been exciting to be over there where all the really smart people stay." But that might have meant a meeting with the Porters, or Jack Beamer's wife, and Nancy wasn't really ready for that. She wore Roger Decatur's ring on her finger, an unimpressive platinum band. Jack Beamer would have given her a circlet of diamonds or emeralds, not that she cared, she insisted loyally. She'd rather wear Roger's utilitarian wedding ring than a pear-shaped diamond from Jack. . . still . . . plenty of time to tell about it. In spite of "Mrs. Decatur on the hotel register, and moments when she could hardly remember that she had ever been single, she still thought of herself as Nancy Hollenbeck. Sometimes she found herself planning, "When I go home . . ." But of course she wasn't going home, she was going on with Roger, forever and ever. And whenever she thought of life without him her knees felt weak, and she wanted to cry. She did cry a little this afternoon, thinking of him at the Riverside, hobnobbing with notables, beautiful bejeweled divorcees passing in and out and she stuck in this dingy, ugly little room!

But she knew it was silly, so she bathed her reddened eyes and put on her best dress, the beige crepe de chine, and went for a walk. "The longers in the lobby turned and stared after her. "I suppose they think I'm a divorcee, too!" she thought, and the very idea of it amused her so that she looked right at a fat man in a loud checked suit, and laughed.

Where can you walk in a strange town? Nancy followed the main street past rows of pleasant looking houses, and over a bridge. She didn't know which way to go then, so she walked back on the other side of the street, and reached the hotel half an hour later, hot, tired and cross.

It was such a relief to find Roger back and waiting for her that she fairly flung herself into his arms, rubbing her hot, pink cheek against his cool, brown one, showing him with absurd, mumbling kisses. "Roger, I do love you, but I hate this horrid place. Can't we go soon?"

Roger held her at arm's length. His whole face was shining. Every bit of him, from his crisp yellow hair to his polished brown boots radiated good news.

He said, "Nancy, old girl, we're going back to the tall timbers. I'm all through here. We're going home."

Home was a ranger's cabin, perched, precariously, Nancy thought, on the barren mountain side.

"But I thought . . . trees . . . she began a little uncertainly, knowing that she was expected to like it, and feeling lost for words.

Oh, we're up above the timber line," Roger exclaimed. "Look! We're on top of the world. You can see all over the valley. There's Mt. Dana, and there's Glacier, and Nancy . . . the timber is in the Meadows . . . our meadows, Nancy, where we found each other—see!"

Nancy followed his finger, but it all looked alike to her. One peak was as jagged and rocky as another. It was all too big and strange to be familiar and friendly.

"I wish we were back in the Meadows," she said, wistfully. "But this is my place, honey. This—this is home!"

"Yes, and I'm going to love it!" she promised warmly, holding tight to his hand. Oh, Roger, don't leave me . . . don't leave me alone in this lonely place!"

He was so proud of the interior, of his own crude but not artistic attempts to make it home-like. He pointed out the book cases made of packing boxes, the barrel chair, the kitchen cupboard, the Navajo rugs. "I tell you there aren't many fellows who could bring a girl into a cabin without planning ahead of time!"

"I'll bet there aren't!" she marveled, patting the pillows on the neat army cots, straightening a pile of old magazines. And inwardly she was wailing, "Oh why doesn't he bring in the bags, and show me where to wash? Oh dear, he's so fresh and enthusiastic, and I'm so tired and dirty!"

She took off her hat, the lovely brown hat that had been new a few short weeks ago, and was dusty and out of shape already. In the bright afternoon light from the biggest window he saw with a guilty start that she was very pale and there were dark circles under her soft brown eyes.

"Why didn't you tell me you were tired?" he cried hotly, snatching her off her feet and depositing her tenderly in the barrel chair. "I'm so used to it I never stop to think how far it is . . . poor kid, you're all in!"

"I'm all right. I'm not the least bit tired," she lied happily, snuggling back against the pillows he

When BABIES are upset

Baby ills and ailments seem twice as serious at night. A sudden cry may mean colic. Or a sudden attack of diarrhea—a condition it is always important to check quickly. How would you meet this emergency—tonight? Have you a bottle of Castoria ready? There is nothing that can take the place of this harmless but effective remedy for children; nothing that acts quite the same, or has quite the same comforting effect on them.

For the protection of your wee one—for your own peace of mind—keep this old, reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an everyday aid. Its gentle influence will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. Its mild regulation will help an older child whose tongue is coated because of sluggish bowels. All druggists have Castoria; the genuine bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper.

CROMAR FACTORY FINISHED OAK FLOORING

It's really the floor that makes or mars a room

Everything in the room is enhanced by the rich, velvet-luster of a hardwood floor as it catches and softly diffuses the white light of day or the mellow glow of evening.

Indeed you can relay your floors with hardwood without upsetting the entire home, and waiting days and days for the finishing, and paying a "small fortune" for it!

You see, CROMAR Hardwood Flooring is completely finished, by patented machines, at the factory! Finished—before it's laid, not after! That allows your carpenter to install CROMAR right over old floors, a room a day—and cuts the cost—and makes a more durable and more beautifully finished floor.

Candidate for Municipal Judge

TO THE VOTERS!

I am a Republican, but did not run as a candidate for Municipal Judge at the Primaries, as this is not a partisan office. A judge should not be engaged in partisan politics or take any part or be bound by any party. For those reasons the laws of the State of Ohio have taken judicial offices out of partisan politics and have provided that the names of candidates for judge be placed upon a separate and distinct ballot, known as the Judicial Ticket without any designation of party affiliation. No man should make any advantage upon a claim that he is a party man when a candidate for judge.

I was born and raised in the city of East Liverpool and have lived in this city all of my life.

Attended the public schools and graduated from East Liverpool High School in the Class of 1913. My legal education was obtained in the office and under the guidance of Hon. W. Frank Lones, Judge of the Common Pleas Court of Columbiana County, Ohio, and was admitted to the Bar of Ohio on January 2nd, 1917, and have been engaged in the continuous practice of law for more than 12 years. I am the son of the late Attorney A. H. Clark, who practiced law successfully in East Liverpool, Ohio, for more than 35 years. I am married and the father of two boys and attend the First Presbyterian Church of which I have been a member for more than 22 years.

If elected Judge of the Municipal Court, I pledge myself to administer the duties of this judicial office honestly and fairly to every person.

UP FROM THE GRIND ORGAN

MECHANICAL music is a modern convenience, not an artistic triumph. When that truth is appreciated the menacing cloud, now hanging over American music will disappear.

Many a fine talking machine enters a home as an honored guest to be played and played for a week or a month, then to be left in silence except for special moods and occasions. The family's habits of attending places of public amusement to hear Real Music are not changed—or at least are not reduced. Rather, the evidence seems to be that the phonograph in the home serves the laudable purpose of exciting greater interest in the music of theatre and concert hall.

"A GODSEND For My Stomach Trouble"

Mrs. Crouse's letter is so grateful and enthusiastic that we want all stomach sufferers to read of her experience through ACIDINE, marvelous digestant and anti-acid. Read her letter:

"Pittsburgh, Pa.
"Just a few lines to tell you that your wonderful ACIDINE has surely brought me back my health as I had been in a terrible state for years with my stomach. I had indigestion & so bad that every time I would eat I had such terrible pain in my stomach that I thought I would surely die. I want you to know that ACIDINE was a Godsend to me.

"Before taking ACIDINE I had been to a dozen doctors. They would give me something but nothing would relieve me. I nearly went crazy. But now—well it is another story—thanks to your ACIDINE.

"I can eat, sleep and enjoy life again. I take ACIDINE after every meal and am going to keep it in my home always. Your ACIDINE has sure saved my life and brought me back to health.

MANY men have sought words to describe that "extra something" in Chesterfield.

It is there, undoubtedly... a "sparkle" of spicier aroma, an extra touch of flavor, a certain added "character," unmistakably Chesterfield's own.

No one word describes it—but only the most inexperienced smoker could fail to mark it. Between other cigarettes and Chesterfield, there is the clear-cut difference between just something to smoke and the cigarette that puts—

Vote!

If the prediction of J. S. Hilbert, chief deputy of the Columbiana county board of deputy state supervisors of elections, is fulfilled, 6,500, or about 66 per cent, of East Liverpool's qualified voters will go to the polls in tomorrow's balloting. Excepting the presidential election last fall, when the Ceramic City broke all records in its total poll, this would be one of the best marks ever attained here.

However, there are many magnets to draw the electors to the precinct booths. Besides selecting municipal officers from mayor to ward councilman, naming three township trustees and a township clerk, choosing a municipal court judge and a clerk and electing two members of the board of education, voters will pass judgment upon a proposed state tax limit amendment, determine what kind of a hospital they want and decide pro or con on the question of establishing a system of free collection of garbage.

Seven ballots, each of enough importance to demand a voice on the part of each elector, will be handed to enfranchised men and women who exercise their right of suffrage. And the voters are the judge and jury in determining the verdict.

Interest in the selection of the best qualified men and women for public office, as well as pride in placing the City hospital on a plane with like institutions in other Ohio valley communities, not to mention the advantage offered in the garbage collection plan and the importance of correcting inequalities in taxation which is the aim of the proposed state amendment, should prompt electors to go to the polls.

Every persons who has attained his or her majority and values his or her citizenship, should vote. It is a duty as well as a privilege to go to the polls.

Disarmament: Theory, Practice

The story brought back from Japan by Colonel Frederick Palmer, American war correspondent, and sent out from Victoria, British Columbia, recently can hardly prove a pleasing one to the pacifists, internationalists and others who, for one reason or another, have been preaching the practical abandonment of the United States navy and a cessation of all forms of national preparedness, for it shows that Japan may be added to the list of nations which have been arming to the teeth while we have been marking time.

Colonel Palmer's trip to the Far East took him to the Philippines, Japan, Korea, China and Manchuria, in all of which lands he found marked changes from the conditions which obtained in them on his previous visit. "The amazing change to me," he says in summing up, "was the growth of Japan's industrial and military power. She has nearly 5,000,000 men who have had military drill."

"Her naval power, in the face of all to the contrary," the colonel goes on to say, "makes her plan of defense the offensive in distant waters. She could take the Philippines in two weeks. Such is her present cruiser strength that she could sweep the United States merchant flag off the Pacific by commerce destroying raids."

"In spite of Japan's home pressure of population, increasing at the rate of nearly a million a year, there are only 5,000,000 Japanese in Korea, where she is an arbitrary colonial ruler; and only 300,000 in Manchuria, where her position is that of railroad control and industrial exploitation in a masterful imperial organization."

It suits those who would see the United States defenseless before attack from an ally power or powers to hold out that all the powers are as wholehearted committed to the idea of world disarmament as we of the United States, but it is a false interpretation of the attitude of other powers. No matter what the future may develop, thus far the attitude of other governments has been to look upon world disarmament as a pleasing theory, whereas the American attitude has been to view it as a possibility, if not a probability, of accomplishment in the near future.

Thus far all the disarmament done in history has been by the United States.

Tinted Theater Seats

Word comes from the British metropolises that theater managements, conforming to the "Brighter London" campaign, are decorating their houses in a manner positively startling to staid Londoners.

When the Savoy was reopened, after having been closed for overhauling of its interior, patrons found the seats upholstered in tints ranging from yellows and pinks to reds and bright browns, the idea being to permit women patrons to select seats which will harmonize to the best advantage with their gowns or their complextions. The box office seat charts are tinted to show the color schemes of the seats represented thereon.

Such, at least, is the alleged purpose of the seat-tinting plan, and it may be the real one, but one can not help but wonder if the plan may not be a clever scheme on the part of the management to add appeal by the beauty and delicacy of the tints employed to seats which might otherwise be less attractive. If this surmise is correct, it goes to show that the London theater people are in no way deficient when it comes to initiative in the matter of salesmanship.

In every airplane crash, the question arises as to whether someone was air-minded or just bare-brained.

HASKIN LETTER DAILY

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.—How far the amalgamation of banks will go is a question now occupying the attention of the leading economists of the world and, of course, the bankers themselves and politicians who trace, and perhaps rightly, all good or ill to which the money power is managed. Whether for good or ill, surveys made by various agencies of the United States government and by other institutions, show that there has been in recent years an amazing concentration of banking power through consolidations and absorptions not only in the United States but in the principal countries of the world.

The development is looked upon as of very great importance because while there has been a steady and phenomenally rapid increase in wealth in all the nations involved, with such wealth being reflected in the condition of the banks, the number of banks has been steadily diminishing. Obviously this can mean but one thing: a larger sum of money steadily concentrating in the hands of few bankers.

To be sure, the bankers do not own the money entrusted to them by depositors but they have the actual custody of it, and that is of chief importance, they have, within limits, the power to dispose of it through credit channels. The individual who deposits money in a bank is wholly at liberty to withdraw it at any time he sees fit but he has not a word of say in controlling to whom the banker shall lend his money while it is in the bank. The law requires banks in this country to maintain reserves against deposits to insure payment upon demand of the depositor but it provides no method by which a banker may be dictated to by the depositor in the making of loans.

O. M. W. Sprague, professor of economics at Harvard university, and W. Randolph Burgess of the committee on recent economic changes, two of the leading economists of the United States, have made a recent survey which has been reported to the department of commerce, the Federal Reserve Board, and other American agencies, showing the contraction in the number of American banks. Their report shows that since 1921 there has been a reduction of 4,000 in the number of American banks.

This means that American banks have reduced in number at the astounding rate of three banks every two days. This is the net reduction. The controller of the currency constantly is chartering new banks and so are the states. In the same period hundreds of new banks have come into existence but the death rate of new and old banks combined has been so large that the net reduction in 8 years has been 4,000.

Some of these institutions have failed outright through fraud, mismanagement, general economic disaster such as overtook many hundreds of banks following the big depression of 1921, and for other reasons. In such cases there has been a complete disappearance from the picture. But others have been merged. In a large number of cases where economic conditions, local or regional depressions have occurred, larger and stronger banks have stepped in and saved smaller institutions from failing with loss to depositors and stockholders by absorbing them. In still other cases, the ambition of a larger bank has dictated the buying out of competing organizations, one after another, until the larger bank swells to such size as completely to dominate its community.

Such situations as the latter usually are produced by relatively new institutions. Some young and unusually energetic and capable and ambitious banker will employ new and popular methods for the purpose of glorifying his bank and forging to the head of his community. There are many examples of this typical American development. That produces still another wellspring of concentration. An older bank, feeling responsible to its stockholders and the financial community generally to maintain and retain its leadership, finds it necessary to buy up or consolidate with other institutions in its community in self defense.

This is the situation in the United States now. There are strong arguments for concentration of banking power but no lack of arguments against it. What is going on in other countries will be discussed tomorrow.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Diary of a modern Peeps: Up sitting at my window, low spirited over losing 200 pounds in a silly investment, and so with H. T. Webster, the limner, to breakfast at The Players. Rode home on a bus top next to a lady who was sniffling over a book of poems.

So to reading my mail and came a happy cable from Gene Tunney that his wife was able to leave a hospital in Berlin. Also came a kodak of my dog when he was a puppy in Stoughton, Mass., and the name he bore then was, by sheer coincidence, the one I gave him.

Worked until late and to hear some Vincent Lopez tunes at the St. Louis and took my wife to a theater, leaving her there to window shop along Broadway and so sleepy I dozed standing up waiting later in the lobby. Home and fell to reading Fred McLaughlin's "The Blade of Picardy," a brave tale.

Broadway hears that a young man who was tossing away $100 bills in joy joints three years ago has entered a monastery—an unusual finish to a White Way romp. But encouraging.

Jaded celebrities have been diverting the night places by arriving in masquerade costumes—the gentlemen with whiskers, mustaches and odd dress and the ladies in wig and gay '90 costume. If recognized, tabloid photographers are tipped off and come on the sally. And they all get their pictures in the paper, which is the intention.

There are stories that many people in the limelight frequently use superficial disguises when walking crowded streets. If so, it is farthest north in self-consciousness.

So hurried and unobserving is New York that a fellow led by a black long hand, standing up in an open carriage, does not receive more than a glance.

And here is a hand grenade of pools for a movie actor arriving a week ago at Grand Central. He slipped on a mask and suffered himself to be carried along by friends in a football rush to a waiting automobile.

Advertising pyrotechnics of the little haberdasheries and such around town are a study in sales psychology. One week their fronts will be emblazoned with banners announcing a grand opening sale. Perhaps a week later a "Fire Sale" is screamed and then comes one of those "Must Vacate—lost our Lease" hall-hoos and finally a few days shut down to "Open Soon Under New Management." Without a single change of proprietors and in the same buildings this goes on for many years and all survive. YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Most of us fail to recognize the human body as a complicated machine. Yet this is what it is.

You have an engine in your automobile, in your boat, or in your car. You have a certain number of revolutions a minute your car or boat will stop. If you force it too hard or try to gain a greater speed than it is capable of, it will sputter, kick, knock or come to a standstill. This is so of the human machine.

There is what we call the "usual expectancy of life." Whether this is shortened or lengthened is, in a large measure, entirely within your own control. If you work all day and dissipate half the night, you cannot expect to live as long as you would with frequent periods of rest. I am not preaching, nor recommending that you live a life devoid of enjoyment and pleasure, but I do appeal to your common sense.

The heart, the engine of your body, does a wonderful piece of work for you. It pumps away, day and night, to make possible all the things you want to do. Like any other machine the heart must have rest periods. It too, suffers the effects of wear and tear. I do not mean it must stop beating, of course, but it requires time to slow down and recuperate from the great strain put upon it during activity. While you are asleep is the time the heart does its resting up.

We know that under normal conditions the heart rests one-tenth of a second after each beat. The short rest period makes it possible to store up sufficient energy for its contraction period. Walking, running, tennis and other sports make the heart beat faster, with shorter rest periods in consequence.

Everyone should be interested in the heart. Take good care of it. When you go on vacation have a good time, even though it is a vacation, do not try to run night into day and wear yourself out. Come home rested. Many people, I fear, come home more fatigued than when they went away.

Take as good care of your heart as of your automobile and you will live long to enjoy it. That is what common sense tells you.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Most of us fail to recognize the human body as a complicated machine. Yet this is what it is.

The Theaters

"College Coquette" Is Ceramic Bill

A slice of campus life is portrayed in Columbia's "The College Coquette," the all-talking picture which opened at the Ceramic theater today. The plot revolves around the unselfish friendship of two girls in a co-educational institution.

The girls are exact opposites in personality and habit. One is a flirt, ever ready for a lark and not happy unless surrounded by a score of jealous swains. The other is demure, a clinging vine, who has been so restricted that she doesn't know anything about men. Ruth Taylor handles the first characterization in a finished manner. Jobyna Ralston, as the unsophisticated chum, who is deceived by a carefree youth, plays her part with a sympathetic understanding. The supporting male roles are enacted by John Holland and William Collier, Jr. John Holland, as the football coach who falls in love with the coquette, is the ideal choice for the role. He is handsome, has a striking physique and an air of reserve. William Collier, Jr., plays the gay deceiver superbly.

"Woolworth Girl" Feature At State

Again the vivacious, sparkling and effervescent star, Alice White, has scored a screen triumph. In her latest First National picture, "The Girl From Woolworth's," now at the State theater, she plays just what the title implies, a ten-cent store clerk. But what a clerk! She meets a subway guard at a jazz party, falls in love with him, and then gets her great opportunity to crash the night clubs as an entertainer. What happens then will not be told here, but it is a happy ending, and a fitting climax to a bright and breezy comedy that is built for entertainment only—just the sort of story for Alice White.

The little blond actress was never more charming than in this picture of modern youth. She is alluring and intriguing as the little clerk whose ambitions and love affairs run head-on into a collision that fairly shakes the theater. You'll like Alice in this.

Charles Delaney, who played opposite Alice in "Show Girl" and "Broadway Babies," is again her leading man in "The Girl From Woolworth's."

A practically all-young cast was provided in support of Miss White. Ben Hall, remembered for his portrayal in "Harold Teen," and Wheeler Oakman, the much-hated "heavy" head of the cast. Rita Flynn, a red-headed beauty, plays Miss White's roommate, and William Orlamond and Milla Davenport are the only "old folks" in the cast.

Gloria Swanson In Talking Debut

Remember the roles that established Gloria Swanson as the "best-dressed woman in the world?" Ever wonder how Gloria Swanson was going to sound in talking pictures?

These and kindred queries will be answered at the American theater when Miss Swanson makes her debut from the audible screen in "The Trespasser," her first all-talking picture for United Artists, written and directed by Edmund Goulding.

In a part said to be the most dramatic she has yet essayed, Miss Swanson at the same time reveals a wardrobe that is even more modish than any she has worn in the pictures which earned her sartorial distinction.

And Miss Swanson speaks and sings from the screen for the first time! Her voice is rich and well-modulated, it is declared; she not only talks in all the scenes in which she appears, but in addition sings two songs in the United Artists picture. One of them, "Love," was composed especially for her by Edmund Goulding, author and director of "The Trespasser."

Miss Swanson's supporting cast includes Robert Ames, the leading man; Fernel Pratt, Henry B. Walthall, Wally Albright, William Holden, Blanche Friederick, Kay Hammond, Mary Forbes and Marcella Corday.

AMUSEMENTS AT GLANCE

CERAMIC—"College Coquette," a story of campus life, starring Ruth Taylor, William Collier, Jr., Jobyna Ralston and John Holland.

STATE—"The Girl From Woolworth's," depicting life of the ten-cent store clerk, with good music, good singing and clever lines, and starring Alice White.

AMERICAN—"The Trespasser," which tells of a woman's heroic fight against the ruling class and cruel gossip to hold the love of her child and her man. Gloria Swanson is the star.

LOBSTERS SEEK COOLER WATER

ALBANY, N.Y. — This was the worst season for lobsters in New York State's history.

"The waters of New York bay, and other nearby waters, where lobsters are usually abundant, seemed to be deserted this year," the conservation commission announced.

"This probably was due to the unusually warm season, and the lobsters migrated to deeper waters where they could find a more suitable temperature."

Johannesburg, South Africa, plans to construct a new public library, a railway station, a central fire station and extensive native living quarters.

Forest Love

piled behind her. Her heart melted. She looked at him with love and pride. Tall, bronzed Roger with the strong, gentle hands and the funny sunburned hair, lighter than his brown skin. While he went into the lean-to kitchen and started dinner she lay back on her pillows, eyes closed. . . . happy. . . . happy. . . . Presently she smelled coffee, and the pungent smoke of sizzling bacon. Lying there, half asleep, she almost thought she was home again, in her own room, and Louise getting papa's breakfast in the kitchen downstairs.

Louise read Nancy's last letter again. Not a word about when she was coming home. Not a bit of news in it, either. What was the matter with the Porters, staying so long in Reno? And why was Nancy staying so long with them?

Mama couldn't understand it, either. Now that Aunt Ellie had gone home and she didn't have to make custards and junks for her, she had twice as much time on her hands, and twice as much opportunity to worry.

With the summer drawing to a close any number of smart functions were under way, and Nancy wasn't there. May Belle Craig was going to finish her Russian River season with a Venetian Water carnival. Cora Craig dropped in to remind them of it, and asked again for Nancy.

While her mother with the liveried Oscar waited outside, she drank three cups of mama's best jasmine tea, and her sharp eyes darted about the shabby room, resting now on the worn place to the carpet, now on the mahogany chair with the cracked rung, then back to mama's old brown silk dress with the patch under the arm, that she hadn't had time to change.

Louise, pretending to be wrapt in her music at the piano at the other end of the room, heard and winced at every word of Mrs. Craig's fashionable gossip, knowing how mama was suffering because she couldn't boast about her girls.

Mabel. . . Gill Neal. . . the Sydney Taff's tea. . . Mable's new cerise velvet evening coat. . . .

She ought to be shot, the old crow, rubbing it into mama that way, Louise thought, angrily, striking loud chords in the hope of drowning her out.

But above Lou's music, above mama's timid offer of more tea, Mrs. Craig's voice rose determinedly:

"By the way, I met that Porter woman who took Nancy to the High Sierras. She was at the Prescott's garden party yesterday, though way they invited the creature I don't understand. Common! My dear Kitty, she's the most ordinary—"

Louise fumbled, choked and looked appealingly at mama.

Motion Pictures and Local Things Theatrical

The State Theatre's increasing popularity can easily be explained. IT'S THE PICTURE.

All the girls from Woolworths (local) are going to see "The Girl From Woolworth's". Alice White is the star.

Ever Notice It? Pathe is nearly always first with the News in Sound.

WHAT A COMBACK—There's going to be a lot of local people agreeably surprised when they see Gloria Swanson in "The Trespasser."

This State Theatre matinee club is getting to be a great "rag". It seems you have to be there early every Monday and Thursday if you want to get in at the reduced rates of 10 and 20 cents.

A reply to hundreds of phone calls:—Date of "The Gold Diggers of Broadway" will be announced before very long.

This column isn't long enough. More later.

Gloria Swanson in The Trespasser

an Edmund Goulding Production

Pictures may come and pictures may go but once in a great while you have the opportunity of enjoying a photoplay of the calibre of "The Trespasser." Beautifully recorded, sumptuously staged, magnificently acted, it tells a stirring tale of a woman's great sacrifice and heroism.

MISS HELEN PFAFF, WELLSVILLE, BECOMES BRIDE OF C. A. BROWN

A PRETTY WEDDING was solemnized Saturday afternoon in the First Methodist Episcopal church, when Miss Helen Pfaff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas B. Stouff of Danbury avenue, Wells, became the bride of Charles Arthur Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Brown of St. Clair avenue. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Warren O. Hawkins. The bridegroom's parents were the attendants.

The bride was gowned in royal blue satin with point lace, and she wore a corsage of pink roses and baby breath.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Calligan and daughter, Virginia, and Mrs. Albert Schmidt and family, all of Pittsburgh.

The bridegroom is employed by the Homer Laughlin China company. A wedding dinner was served in the home of the bride's parents in Wellsville, covers being arranged for 24. A color scheme of pink and white predominated in the dinner appointments.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown left yesterday for a visit in Moundsville, W. Va., and upon their return will live with the bridegroom's parents.

Art Circle Plans Dinner.

Art Circle club members will enjoy their annual dinner and theater party in Pittsburgh Thursday instead of Friday as previously announced.

Lodge Institution Thursday.

Members of Pride of Valley Council No. 4 and Putty Council No. 7, Daughters of America, will attend the institution of a council at Richmond, O., on Thursday night. District Deputy J. E. Anderson will officiate.

Pride of Center Council No. 150, of Lisbon, will entertain the Past Councilors of District No. 6, Daughters of America, on November 14.

BETWEEN YOU AND ME

BY JOAN.

Good evening, everybody! Here's some "light" on the beauty question. Now that we've had several of those scalp treatments for which they're famous we want the world to know that a scalp treatment at the Beauty Shoppe is no ruddy gesture. First they diagnose the condition of the scalp—then proceed with a violet-ray treatment—electric vibrator—then oil is applied, steamed in and dried and lastly a cleansing invigorating shampoo. If you wish to improve the health and appearance of your hair, these treatments will bring results.

 Fifteen years ago milk was judged almost entirely by its cream line. Little attention was paid to its purity and cleanliness. Today, doctors, health authorities and housewives demand clean, pure milk. During the past few years The Crockery City Ice & Products Co. have expended a great deal of money for installing machinery to pasteurize and automatically bottle and cap their milk. All because they want their product safe for those who depend on their milk for good health. Crockery City milk, cream and ice cream are always safe, clean, fresh and pure.

 Another grand feature in sending your washing to the Troy Wet Wash—you can send everything—even your finest lace curtains at your best wool blankets—with the assurance that they will come home in perfect condition. They are washed just as carefully and every bit as thoroughly as they are laundered at home. Don't wear yourself out—save a little of your self each week by sending your clothes to the Troy Laundry.

 On our way to the Pitt-State Kick-off Saturday we saw a car that had swerved from the highway as it rounded a curve and there it lay smack on its side in the ditch. Were in too big a hurry or I would have put an ear to the ground and investigated how it happened and whether or not anyone was injured. Just another circumstance to impress us with the importance of Automobile Liability Insurance. We've no guarantee against accidents or collision but we can guarantee protection against loss—by carrying insurance with The Lee C. Cooper Agency.

 My word! You're surely not going to pass up such a splendid opportunity as this—Joining the Ostermoor Mattress Club. Have a thought for that bed in the back bedroom. You've been ashamed of that mattress for a long time—so hard and lumpy, why isn't it fit for anyone to sleep on. Well, off with it now. Here's a chance to get five dollars for it—towards the purchase of one of the highest class mattresses that is made. You'll like everything about it—from its fancy imported damask covering to the tiniest detail of its construction. Stop at Crook's tomorrow and investigate the Ostermoor. Hundreds are buying it on the club plan payment of $1.00 per week.

 And then if you could tuck you in under a pair of these soft, deep-wool blankets we saw at Ogilvie's we'd feel the day was well-spent. You really must see these St. Mary's blankets to fully appreciate them. All wool and attractively bound with good quality sateen they come in gayly colored plaids as well as plain colors. Their pastel tints strike a lovely color note when folded on the foot of the bed or used as regular blankets. Right now this department is fairly teeming with the most fascinating blankets we've ever seen. If their beauty and prices don't tempt you to buy at least one pair—then we're putting on a dance cap and taking a back-seat.

Yours till Thursday, JOAN.

MISS CAMPBELL, J. C. ALLISON WED

MISS DOROTHY Virginia Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Campbell of Monroe street, became the bride of J. Clifford Allison, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Allison, of Cambridge, at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Kinnam, Pennsylvania avenue. The Rev. Dr. Warren O. Hawkins, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church officiated. Ferns, palms and yellow and white chrysanthemums were used in decorating.

The bride was gowned in dahlia georgette, and carried a bouquet of orchids and white chrysanthemums. Previous to her marriage she was employed in the office of the Atlas-Globe China company in Cambridge. She is a graduate of the Niles high school.

The bridegroom is manager of the B. G. Kresge company store in Cambridge.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served in the home of the bride's parents, covers being arranged for the immediate families at a table, on which a color scheme of yellow and white predominated.

Following a honeymoon in the east, Mr. and Mrs. Allison will be at home at 1233 Gombher avenue, Cambridge.

ONLY YEARS

Can Buy EXPERIENCE

There is no substitute for common sense and experience for the proper installation of a warm air heating system. Blue-prints and formulas are good, but only the knowledge of years of experience can make a furnace installation the best.

The Proof

Come to our Hardware store, Dresden avenue, and look over the list of people who have been using furnaces installed by the Trotter Hardware Company. Select names from this list at random and ask them if they are satisfied—if their furnaces haven't given them the utmost in convenience, economy and all-around satisfaction. For the heart of the heating plant we recommend Premier Heaters. You don't have to apologize for a Premier when company comes.

Needless Suffering

The next time a headache makes you stay at home—

Or some other ache or pain prevents your keeping an engagement—

Remember Bayer Aspirin! For there is scarcely any pain it cannot relieve, and relieve promptly.

These tablets give real relief, or millions would not continue to take them. They are quite harmless, or the medical profession would not constantly prescribe them.

Don't be a martyr to unnecessary pain. To colds that might so easily be checked; to neuritis, neuralgia; to those pains peculiar to women; or any suffering for which Bayer Aspirin is such an effective antidote.

For your own protection, buy the genuine. Bayer is safe. It's always the same. It never depresses the heart, so use it as often as needed; but the cause of any pain can be treated only by a doctor.

QUITS MANSION FOR COTTAGE

Wealthy Cleveland Widow Goes to Bethany.

NEWELL, W. Va., Nov. 4.—Mrs. W. D. Turner, whose husband at one time represented the Van Swearingen interests, has given up her mansion in Shaker Heights, a suburb of Cleveland, O., and has taken up her home in a white-washed cottage in the hills overlooking Bethany college.

Mrs. Turner, who received her degree from Bethany in 1895, declared that "life in a large city comes to be superficial," while at Bethany it is natural and real.

The cottage which she now occupies was built under her supervision. Two mill stones, imported from France more than 150 years ago, stand on each side of the entrance.

The knocker on the front door is the work of John Pratt, a blacksmith of Hartford, Conn., whose family has been making knobs for eight generations. Stones in the old-fashioned chimney were picked in the surrounding fields, and a stained glass window is from a college chapel of former years.

"They wanted to know why I whitewashed the cottage after building it new," Mrs. Turner said, "and when I told them I wanted it to look old, they couldn't understand."

Her husband, who died four years ago, was a law partner of Attorney H. H. Johnson of Cleveland.

Children Like Safe Prescription Coughs and Sore Throat Relieved Almost Instantly

Stop children's coughs and sore throats before these ailments lead to dangerous ills. Thoxine, a doctor's prescription, now assures relief within 15 minutes to children as well as adults without the danger in the use of patent medicines containing harmful drugs.

Thoxine works on a different principle, goes direct to the source of trouble and relieves the irritation which causes the coughing and sore throat. Ideal for children because it is safe and does not have the usual "nasty-medicine" taste. No gagging. Just ask for Thoxine, put up ready for use in 35c, 60c, and $1.00 bottles. Money back if not relieved. All druggists.—Adv.

CHURCH ARMY OPENS ST. STEPHEN'S MISSION ON NOV. 13

BISHOP WILL PREACH HERE NEXT SUNDAY

Prayer Services Will Be Held This Week.

10-DAY MEETING

Captain Mountford And Aides Arrive In City.

Under the auspices of the Church Army, an organization of laymen that for nearly 50 years has augmented the activities of the denomination in England, members of St. Stephen's Episcopal church will open a 10-day mission on Thursday, Nov. 13.

Three officials of the Church Army which has been active in America for the last three years will speak nightly.

Designated as the missioner, Captain B. F. Mountford, formerly of England, but who is now in charge in America, will have immediate charge. He will be assisted by Captain W. E. F. Bugg, also formerly of England.

They were joined today by Cadet N. H. Cochran, of New York City.

Army Makes Notable Record. Preliminary to the mission, Co-adjutor Bishop Warren Rodgers, of Cleveland, will occupy the pulpit of St. Stephen's Church next Sunday.

In connection with the Episcopal church in England the Church Army has functioned for 47 years. Its founder is Prebendary Wilson Carlisle, now in his eighty-third year. He shares with Archbishop Lang of Canterbury the leadership of the denomination.

Operating much as does the Salvation Army, the Church Army in England has made a notable record. Now in America the organization is beginning activities that are certain to have wide effect.

Upon invitation of the clergy, members of the army go to the various parishes and conduct missions.

Attendance enlistment cards are being signed by the members of St. Stephen's church.

Three Services Daily. During this week there will be prayer services nightly, save on Saturday, in homes of members. Visiting members of the army will be present at all of these. These will be added to also by a noon-day prayer service, also.

Three services daily will be held in the church during the mission.

the first being in the morning at 7:30 o'clock, the second at 4 o'clock in the afternoon for children and the third in the evening at 7:30 o'clock.

"A non-going church people will never be reached by a non-going church," is the motto of the Church Army.

"Preach Jesus" is the command of the venerable Dr. Carlisle, the army's head. "Paul," he adds, "failed to evangelize Athens by preaching philosophy and theology, but succeeded in Corinth by the humble witnesses of personal experiences of Jesus only."

"Work by the American branch of the Church Army has been done in New York City, New England and the rural districts of Vermont," asserted Captain Mountford. The mountain settlements of Virginia have also been visited.

"During 1928 two men visited Colorado where a number of mission stations were opened. A return visit was made to them last summer with encouraging results."

"Eight of the army's young men went to Oregon recently where in its eastern section they found a wide field of activity."

Captains Mountford and Bugg, as well as Cadet Cochran, are fine speakers. They will be seconded in every manner during their stay in East Liverpool by the Rev. R. C. Caulk, the rector and the members of the church's vestry.

Salvation Army.

Ensign Walter Waggoner, of New York City, here on a visit to relatives, spoke twice at meetings of the Salvation Army at the West Third street citadel yesterday. He has been gone from East Liverpool for 11 years.

In the morning he discussed the relationship of the body and mind and spirit, and in the evening noted the power that Peter became as a follower of Christ after repentance following his denial of Jesus.

He sang at both services also. His morning contribution was "Carry Me Back To Calvary" and in the evening, "O Jesus How Vast Thy Love For Me."

Announcement was made that Major Howard Hinkle, of Cleveland, will be present during this week-end at the Army's services.

Major Joseph Hughes also announced that the 125th machine gun battalion next Sunday night. A history of the unit will be read on this occasion by a member of it, Alfred Cronin of Beechwood.

First Methodist Episcopal.

The Anglo-Saxon civilization stands out in its present development and challenges the whole human race in its possibilities and responsibility for bettering the world by giving it Christian principles, declared the Rev. Dr. Edwin Kirby, superintendent of the Akron district of the North East Ohio conference, at the First Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning when he made the annual thank offering sermon for the women's Home Mission Society.

A former pastor of the church, he was greeted by many of his former parishioners following his discourse.

He arrived in East Liverpool on Saturday and spent the night as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Larkins, of Vine street. He dined yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Boyce of Chester.

"This was the single Sunday morning I had open until the first of the year," he announced at the outset of his sermon which he based upon the words of Revelation which were directed to the angel of the church in Philadelphia: "Hold fast to that which thou hast that no man take thy crown."

First United Presbyterian.

The annual thank offering sermon at the First United Presbyterian church, West Sixth and Jefferson streets, was preached by the Rev. J. W. Ransom, of Toronto, yesterday morning. He exhorted the congregation with the Rev. J. L. Davidson, who spoke at the evening service in his own pulpit.

Speaking from the vantage point of a missionary in India for 17 years the Rev. Mr. Ransom stressed the fact that, despite the sordidness of life in the Far East and the lack of money and food so pronounced there, Christian converts, almost as their first duty give what they can toward the promulgation of the gospel. "Such examples should be emulated by those living in the land of plenty," he observed.

First Baptist.

Between twenty and thirty conversions followed the sermon of D. L. Moody, evangelist and song leader, at the First Baptist church revival, West Fifth street, yesterday morning. One more conversion resulted from the service last night which attracted an audience that jammed the edifice to overflowing.

In the evening the Rev. A. H. O'Brien spoke on the "Conversion of Paul" in which he deprecated present day tendencies to minimize the supernatural in the lives of men.

Special music during all services was given by Mr. Moody and Claude Kelly, also of Columbus, his assistant.

In the morning Mr. Moody spoke upon "The Good Shepherd."

Announcement was made that practically the entire service to-night will be devoted to song.

First Presbyterian.

"Every voter should go to the polls and vote on election day," averred the Rev. Dr. J. H. Leitch, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, East Fourth street, yesterday morning. His subject was "Why and For What Should We Vote?"

He declared it was the imperative duty of good citizens to take part in politics that by their good ideas it may be kept clean. "Is it honest to receive the benefits of our civilization and government and not support that government by your ballot?" he interrogated. "Other people have just as much right to refrain from voting as have those who fail to do so. If all good people should not vote who would run the government?"

He insisted that a study should be made of all issues before the people.

His viewpoints were based upon upon the affirmation: "Give unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's."

Announcement was made that Armistice day would be celebrated next Sunday morning by a special service. Invitations have been extended to members of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. Assistance will be given the event by Boy Scouts of the church.

Miss Creola Hall, of Belmont county, one of the synodical workers of the Ohio presbytery, gave a resume of her work as a home missionary in a sermon at the church last night following an address to members of the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, Park boulevard, in the morning where she spoke in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. E. A. Walker, who has been preaching all week at Georgetown, Ohio.

Lutheran Church.

The Rev. Dr. J. G. Reinartz extolled the virtues of the denomination's outstanding hymn "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," in a sermon at St. John's Lutheran church last night.

His tribute to the song, its poetry and music, formed a concluding gesture to the four hundred and twelfth anniversary of the great reformation.

Music was given by the vested choir of young voices, directed by Mrs. W. H. Gerber, as organist. It reached a sublime culmination with the singing of another of Martin Luther's hymns, "Lord Keep Us Steadfast in Thy Word" which Dr. Reinartz disclosed was first sung 388 years ago.

Declaring him as the Elijah and St. Paul of the middle ages he said the church's pride in Martin Luther was akin to that of his own as a follower of Christ and the Apostles.

"If Martin Luther had done nothing else save composing this hymn he would qualify as an immortal," he quoted a congressman as saying. "In all of the galaxy or assemblage of sacred poetry of the Christian church no grander song of triumph than Luther's battle hymn has ever been composed. Its words and melody are compellingly fitting. They loom as twin brother and sister, one of manly line slant in its words and the other possessing womanly grace in its rhythm and melody."

Church of Nazarene.

"Herbert Hoover and Ramsay MacDonald, one the president of the United States and the other the premier of Great Britain, who sat on a log in the Virginia sunshine to pave the way toward world peace, did so because of their family background which was strongly religious," asserted the Rev. Theodore Elsner, evangelist, of Brooklyn, N. Y., in his concluding sermon at the Nazarene church revival last night. His theme was "Affected Lives."

In the morning he had spoken upon the subject "Mountainee Christians." Previous to that, Mrs. Elsner made an address to 634 of the Sunday school.

"We have averaged 479 in attendance at the Sunday school since the first of this year announced the Rev. O. L. Benedum, the pastor. During October the average has been 644."

During the morning service 19 persons were taken into church membership. Others of the revival converts elected to ally themselves with other denominations.

For a brief rest before proceeding to Columbus to begin a series of meetings in the First Nazarene church, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Elsner will visit for a few days with Mr. and Mrs. George Killmer, of Steubenville, both former residents of East Liverpool. He will hold a meeting in Rochester, N. Y., after his stay in the Capital City. Early next year he will hold services that will take him through the Carolinas to Florida and back north again.

DR. NYSTROM, professor of Marketing at the Columbia University School of Business says women refuse to follow dressmakers' orders and wear long skirts.

The "fashionable" five per cent of women will wear long skirts at night, with a tail at one side dragging on the ground.

THE other ninety-five per cent, less fashionable, but more intelligent, will stick to the short skirts.

That is good news, it true, but usually the majority is led by the minority, in styles.

And moving pictures, showing "the latest" as soon as it is produced, causes styles to change in three months. It used to take two years to make a change.

THE British are optimistic, not to say complacent, about our Wall street earthquake, feel that our regular business will suffer little. American speculation was draining the world of its gold supply, and less stock gambling should correct that.

LORD BEAVERBROOK, able Britisher, distributes a pamphlet advocating closer and freer trade among various parts of the British Empire. He describes the United States system, free trade among all states, says Britain, possessing one-quarter of the globe's surface, could and should be independent and self-supporting.

BEAVERBROOK, Canadian by birth, must know that Canada, to some extent, South Africa and Australia to a greater extent, have observed in visiting Britishers that "certain condescension" observed in this country long ago.

The dominions do not like condescension. And having had much the same experience and problems as Americans, many in Canada and Australia are more like Americans than like the home-born British.

IN Delaware, Mr. Alfred I. Du Pont, after a careful survey, means to relieve the pressing needs of poor people past 65 years of age. He hopes the state will follow his example and make pensions for the aged part of the state budget.

MR. DU PONT, following custom, stipulates that those relieved must be worthy. The founder of Christianity would have left out the word "worthy."

Human decency does not let an old horse die on the roadside, even though it be a horse not especially worthy. Not too many questions should be asked where there are white hairs, and tired eyes.

AUTOMOBILES companies report big sales. Lawrence B. Fisher, reports October sales of Cadillac and La Salle cars exceeding any previous October in Cadillac's history.

Chevrolet production for October was 32 per cent above October last year.

It insures arrival in the market in exactly the same condition in which they were picked—sun ripe in the vineyards. The first consignment under the new process sold almost immediately.

Canton Man Likely Choice for Burton Place.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—(INS.)—Governor Myers Y. Cooper informed newspapermen, this afternoon, that he expects to announce at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning his selection of a successor to the late U. S. Senator Theodore E. Burton.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 4.—(INS.)—Roscoe C. McCulloch of Canton, member of the state utility commission and former congressman, was singled out by political observers here today as the likely choice to fill the senatorial vacancy which was left by the death of Senator Theodore E. Burton.

Governor Myers Y. Cooper, who came here to dedicate the new Cleveland Hungarian Young Men's and Ladies' Society building, declined to comment upon newspaper deductions, but it was learned from sources close to the governor that Colonel Carmi A. Thompson, Cleveland's favorite protegee for the appointment, has been virtually eliminated, leaving the post open for McCulloch.

Governor Cooper expressed interest in the "newspaper deductions," which have narrowed the field down to Thompson and McCulloch.

"Wasn't Frederickson (Charles R. Frederickson of Coshocton) included?" he queried.

It is generally believed, however, that McCulloch will be appointed with Frederickson a possibility if, at the last minute, McCulloch is rejected.

He admitted he may have made an error in judgment but he pleaded he had done nothing immoral, unethical or dishonorable.

He pleaded "not guilty" to all charges carried in the Norris resolution.

"With a Smile and a Hand-Shake and a Wheelbarrow Load of Ashes"

The above caption we quote from the campaign "literature" of our friends, the enemy.

Some days ago we mailed to the electors of the city a folder which recounts some of the events and accomplishments of the present city administration. For the benefit of any who may have been inadvertently omitted from our mailing list we reproduce the same below.

EAST LIVERPOOL CITY, Inc.

Capital Stock Over $31,000,000.00

YOU ARE A STOCKHOLDER—

This is your company because you are, in a way, an involuntary stockholder. The amount of stock you own is represented by the value on which you are paying taxes and you are therefore vitally interested in the economies of the organization. You are entitled to know how your dollars are spent—whether or not you are getting value received.

As a stockholder of this big corporation you may or may not be aware that approximately 90% of the operating revenue of the city is disbursed through the departments of Public Service and Public Safety. The Mayor and the Director of these two departments constitute the Board of Control and make the expenditures incident to the activities of the city.

The present administration assumed control under a considerable handicap. Unpaid obligations approximating $8,000.00, were inherited. In addition the revenues of the first year of our incumbency had been anticipated and pledged (unlawfully) for the payment of the previous years obligations to the amount of $10,000.00. Coincident came the Municipal Court with consequent extra expense for its maintenance and without corresponding increase of revenue, while other circumstances increased the total handicap to nearly $50,000.00.

Out of operating revenue only, all these extra obligations have been paid; your city is living within its means and will close the year with a clean slate—no hang-overs to haunt the year 1930.

Street paving, installation of sanitary sewers and such like are, of course, extraordinary expenses and are always financed by bond issues as they are not a part of operating expenses.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SERVICE

Your city, today, is in better physical condition than ever before in its history. Your mayor, alive to the fact that service and accomplishment is due the people, with a director of public service and public safety, who is not afraid to work twelve hours or more a day a street commissioner who knows how to do things, together with a well equipped crew of assistants, much has been accomplished that was never before attempted.

Dozens of requests and problems appear every day and practically all of them are investigated by the head of the department, and if what is wanted proves feasible, an attempt is made for its accomplishment, as soon as it can be reached.

Paid for out of operating revenues, economically handled, these are a few of the out-of-the-ordinary things accomplished:

Three concrete culverts have been constructed, ordinarily let by contract, at a correspondingly higher cost.

Four flights of concrete steps constructed, which will never rot out.

Concrete railings constructed on a number of walls, to replace iron railings that were rusted out.

Wire guard-rail constructed along Pennsylvania avenue, along River Road and several other dangerous places.

Street signs at practically all the prominent intersections.

More and better street marking with paint than ever before.

As indicated above, all these things were paid for from operating revenue, whereas many of them ordinarily would have required bond issues.

In addition to these unusual matters, the dirt streets, of which there are well near a hundred miles, are away better than ever before. Scarcely anywhere is there a dirt street that is traveled but what has been properly drained and ashed or otherwise treated.

More miles of sanitary sewers have been laid than in any other like time. We mention a few outlying districts which years ago had petitioned for such improvement and in which conditions were deplorable, but had never been provided for: Garfield street, Sutton alley, St. John street and Briar alley, Ephraim, Laura and Riley streets, Edgewood and Hazel streets, Erie and Dewey streets, Etna alley, Fairview street, Erie and Sylvan streets and Peake, Jackman and Ogden streets. Plans are partially prepared for sanitary sewers for the Klondyke and extreme East End, and for Beechwood and adjacent territory to Thompson Boulevard and St. Clair avenue.

Eighty-five additional street lights have been installed by the present administration in the territory annexed and in various places within the original corporate limits.

DIVISION OF WATER

Believing that along with proper sanitation—reference to which has already been made—pure water is the most essential factor in any city, your water plant, after thirteen years of service, has recently been largely rehabilitated. All the filter beds have, within the past few months, been rebuilt, a new chlorinator, a new lime machine and a new alum machine, all electrically controlled, have been installed, which guarantees a regular and uniform amount of these chemicals being distributed at all times, as needed. Today the chemical and biological purity of the water provided the people of our city is away better than the requirements of the State Board of Health, and better than has ever been furnished in the history of the plant.

The pump station machinery has been generally overhauled and replacements have been made where necessary. A coal shed adjoining the plant is now being constructed.

All in all the plant is in fine physical condition and the water pumped into the mains is the best mechanical ingenuity can produce and as indicated above, is pure and healthful.

During 1927, and subsequent thereto, the volume of water consumed was very materially reduced, such being brought about by the closing of a number of factories, which were large consumers. However, because of recent extensions of mains, to many sections not heretofore reached, the building-up process is in progress, working toward restoration to previous proportions, and additional customers along these new lines are constantly being added.

Well near fifteen miles of water mains have been laid, a considerable portion being in territory annexed in 1927, but quite a proportion being to districts within the former city limits, which had not heretofore been so supplied. Fire hydrants have been installed wherever new mains have been laid.

In several instances these mains have been extended outside the corporate limits, where the petitioners of sufficient number signed up to insure a profitable investment. As territory outside the city limits cannot be taxed to support the maintenance of the fire department, the applicants gladly obligated themselves to pay 10% additional for water on that account.

The superintendent of Division of Municipalities, State of Ohio, directs that a utility such as your water plant, representing a value of considerable over a million dollars, carry a considerable surplus in cash or liquid assets, such being in anticipation of any emergency that might arise in the operation of the plant. Municipal bonds are classed as liquid assets, hence your mayor and director have purchased considerable of our city's securities with water funds, securing a higher rate of interest than can be obtained on bank deposits and also providing that the payment of the bonds and interest comes back to the city instead of to regular bond investors. This is the first time such purchases have ever been made by any department of the city, outside the sinking fund commission. It is authorized by State law and we consider it good business practice.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY—DIVISION OF FIRE

With the completion of the central fire station the main unit will be ideally provided for in this modern building.

Both the Northside and East End buildings have been rejuvenated, each having been painted inside and out; paid for from operating revenue.

Between two and three thousand feet of new fire hose has been purchased, also paid for out of operating revenues, economically administered.

With our complement of 28 men and the physical condition of the equipment the city is well protected from fire hazards.

DIVISION OF POLICE

With a Chief of Police, one Captain, two Sergeants and ten patrolmen, East Liverpool's peace preservers constitute a small force, when spread over the 24 hours of each day, for the size of the community it must needs cover. However, we have reason to be proud of our city as compared with others of 25,000 population. No organized vice exists, and while conditions are not all that could be desired, without being fanatical, and in spite of handicaps, we are giving our best efforts to making and keeping East Liverpool a clean city.

The jail, while miserably inadequate to its uses, especially the women's division, we feel warranted in saying is in much better sanitary condition than when we assumed control.

If the principles adopted and the methods followed, as herein-before indicated, appeal to you as sound, conservative and safe, if you wish your dollars to continue to bring a full return of 100 cents,

Assembly Session Called for Nov. 20

Governor Conley Asks Legislature to Con- sider Changes in State Code.

CHESTER, W. Va., Nov. 4. — Governor William G. Conley today issued a call for a special session of the legislature to convene at Charleston on Wednesday, November 20, for the purpose of considering the report providing for changes in the state code.

Governor Conley said he would send a brief message to the legislature when he transmitted the code report.

The report to the governor recommending enactment of the code was signed by Senator Mont Z. White, Williamson, president of the senate; Speaker J. William Cummins, Wheeling, of the house of delegates; T. M. Brooke Price, Charleston; Senator Ben H. Hiner, Pendleton county; E. L. Hogsett, Huntington; Delegate Harvey W. Harmer, Clarksburg; Senator E. Bunker Reynolds, Keyser; Senator Ira L. Smith, Fairmont; Delegate Lacy L. Rice, Martinsburg; Delegate W. S. Wyson, Webster Springs and James A. Meredith, Fairmont.

The committee's report, in the concluding paragraph, said: "In the bill we hand you herewith, we recognize that there are imperfections but nevertheless in our judgment, if it is passed, the new code will be a very great improvement over the old, and we recommend its enactment."

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feed young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

East End Resident Finds Owa-Ton-Na A Fine Tonic

Recommends This Fine Old Indian Remedy to Anyone Not in Good Health

Many people have found Owa-Ton-Na just the remedy that is necessary to put them in good health. Among the many who praise it for the good it has done is Mr. Clyde Shields, 529 Maple street, East Liverpool, Ohio. He says: "My system had got in the condition where I would not feel like doing my work, just tired, worn out most of the time. Head-aches, indigestion and constipation made me feel quite miserable. Food of any kind would not seem to agree with me. My kidneys were not functioning normally."

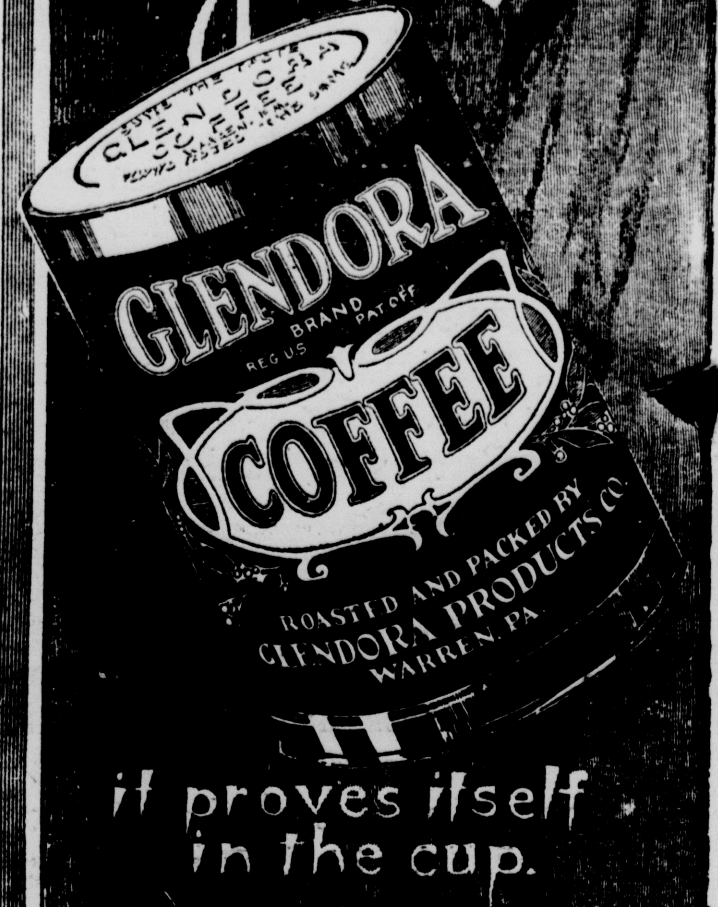

"Dizzy spells often made me wonder what the trouble was. Owa-Ton-Na was recommended to me, I thought I would give it a trial because I had heard of the way it had helped so many people and surely it would do me some good. I was surprised for even from the first bottle, I could see a big change in my condition. It just seems to cleanse the system from top to bottom. My kidneys are functioning better, food doesn't distress me as much as it used to. My bowels are acting regularly and once again I have more energy and feel like getting things done. Any one who is suffering certainly should give this fine old Indian Remedy a trial."

You too may find in Owa-Ton-Na just the remedy you have been

12,000 POLL IS PREDICTED

Beaver County's Electors go to Polls Tuesday.

MIDLAND, Pa., Nov. 4.—Commissioner Clerk J. S. Edwards, Beaver, predicted today that more than 12,000 votes will be cast in Beaver county at the state election tomorrow. Approximately 500 voters of the Steel City will trek to the polls in the two precincts to elect 19 borough officials and pass judgment upon candidates for two county positions and two judges of the superior court.

Midland electors will also decide the fate of a councilmanic resolution to transfer a surplus of $34,918.23 from a sewer bond issue authorized in 1925 for the extension and enlargement of the sewerage system to defray the expense of grading the Fairview highway and to pay a portion of the cost of the land on which the new incinerator plant was built.

Prothonotary and jury commissioner are the only county offices to be filled.

A two-man fight for Burgess is the chief feature of the Midland election.

Four members of council for four-year terms; high constable; three auditors for six, four and two-year terms respectively; registry assessor, judge and inspector of both election precincts; three school board directors for six-year terms and one for a two-year term; tax collector and Burgess are subject to the decision of tomorrow's vote.

Following is the lineup of candidates: Tax collector, W. A. Filson; four members of council for terms of four years, Robert Lloyd, P. A. Fernsler, P. P. Rogers, O. L. Pringle; high constable, William A. Fox; auditor, Homer Coffin (for six years) Miss Ida B. Phillips (four years) and Margaret Moran (two years); first precinct board of election-registry assessor, R. HUFF'S MILK MEETS EVERY HEALTH NEED

The most beautiful babies and the healthiest babies always have these characteristics: a well shaped head, a full, deep chest, a sturdy, well knit framework, straight legs, well developed jaws and chin, and teeth that come in straight and evenly spaced.

And, the health authorities agree, these things do not come, or, on the other hand, fail to come, merely by accident.

They are built.

Whether the baby is building the right kind of bones and teeth at the very start depends on whether he is supplied with the proper materials.

And most of these materials he gets from his food—from milk and vegetables.

Milk, most authorities agree, is the most important food of all. There are other substances, of course, which are necessary in nourishing the little bodies and which are to be used occasionally, from time to time, but the foundation of all is milk.

And the mother, to be certain that her baby is getting the best, must have confidence in the milk with which she feeds her babe, and confidence in the dealer who supplies it to her.

Ray P. Huff, Chester's only local milk dealer, has built up a large business on this basis in the last few years, supplying countless homes with pure milk and cream from credited first ranking herd.

Huff promises satisfaction in every respect.

Huff does not deal in a lot of adulterates. He specializes in delivering the highest quality milk obtainable to his customers.

Home Buyer Today Asks Better Types

Buckeye Lumber Company of This City Proving Important Factor in Building Progress.

Building ideas are gradually assuming larger proportions in the public mind. More is being expected and demanded in the completed house. The buyer is no longer satisfied with the mere outside appearance of his prospective home. He must be just as pleased with the interior and especially with the conveniences afforded. No longer is he willing to begin the completion of his home where the speculative builder left off.

The speculative builder is himself responsible for this change of viewpoint on the buyer's part. Quite awhile ago the more enterprising builders began adding little conveniences, mostly, at the outset, in the way of built-in features within and trellis work and other gingerbread contrivances without, all of which looked fine while newly painted. Then along came the iron chutes for the coal hole and the underground garbage receptacles. All these helped tremendously to speed up sales.

But their greatest triumph came with the introduction of all those little conveniences so dear to the feminine heart. Some one introduced the clothes chute; some one else followed by adding the trick milk and package receiver; and then came like an avalanche the built-in mail box and ironing board, the broom closet and the flour bin, the handy cupboards and the little concealed closets in the bathroom to relieve the congestion of the medicine cabinet and increase

DOAK REPAIRS ADD NEW LIFE TO OLD CARS

That "new car feel" when every piece of mechanism is performing exactly as it should, in relation to every other piece, is one of the outstanding factors contributing to comfort in motoring.

When the "new car feel" ultimately disappears, as it will because a car, no matter how well it is cared for, must wear in time, and the automobile begins to get cranky, motoring's pleasures begin to vanish.

O. V. Doak, 122 Summit lane, repair specialist, can show you where sagging worn-out springs often can cause no end of these little troubles—little troubles which sometimes develop into large ones.

While a spring may look the same it was when the car was new, yet you cannot discern the sag or the droop after time goes by. A spring does not have to be broken or cracked before it is worn out.

Doak can make replacements for you in cases of this kind, guaranteeing prompt service and reasonable charges. If you cannot motor in pleasure it is hardly worth while motoring at all.

Doak provides fully guaranteed springs in his work, free from defects in material and workmanship and to fit and match regular equipment on the car.

This is but one of Doak's many service features. Brake testing and lining is another and equally important job. Car owners should have their brakes tested periodically because, on account of their construction, it is impossible to detect a flaw from the exterior. There is nothing so potentially dangerous as the invisible, which usually makes itself felt at the most critical moment.

So the next time you think of it, drop in to Doak's and have him look at those brakes and your springs, too.

Your Home Will Look Better With "National" Furniture

Local Firm Ready to Serve Your Every Need, Large or Small.

Do you hesitate to invite your friends to your home, fearing that your furniture, which, possibly, you permitted to become shabby and unsightly, would create an unfavorable impression in their mind?

Possibly you hold the opinion that they may be inclined to judge you on what they see in your home. And, possibly, too, you might be right about it. People are apt to judge things like that—and talk about it afterward.

It's all right to accumulate relics, some folks make a hobby of it, but we imagine it would become somewhat of an annoyance to use relics day in and day out—a whole houseful of them.

Especially, when you consider how easy it is to outfit your home through the assistance of the National Furniture company, East Fourth street.

Whether it's a whole houseful of furniture, a suite, just one piece, or, possibly, a bit of used furniture to fill a vacant corner somewhere, the National Furniture company will leave no stone unturned in fulfilling your wants. Or they can make over for you in the way of upholstering.

Furniture upholstering and repairing is the business of experts. The very first essential to success in such a business is that the owners and workmen know their jobs thoroughly. The National Furniture company can qualify in this respect.

They would welcome an opportunity to prove it to you.

POTTERS START DRILLS FOR MARTINS FERRY

Offense Tactics Stressed

Bob Hall May Get Chance in Saturday Clash.

The annual conflict between Belaire and Martins Ferry, staged Saturday on Ferry field, provided little, if any, grounds for a comparison in relation to Pottery City football and so Coach Earl Zook's gridders will trek to the valley city next Saturday afternoon certain of getting what they've figured all along—a tough battle.

Belaire defeated East Liverpool by two touchdowns, Saturday. The Red and Black bowed to Martins Ferry by a 2-0 count, the bare margin of a safety giving the Ferrians the game.

Rain and muddy underfooting will be no bar to outside practices for the locals this week.

The Potters have been drilling indoors for several days as a result of the incessant rainfall but out they go tonight. Spared the customary bumps and bruises attendant upon the customary weekend encounters, the team, because of its day's loaf Saturday, should face Martins Ferry in good physical condition.

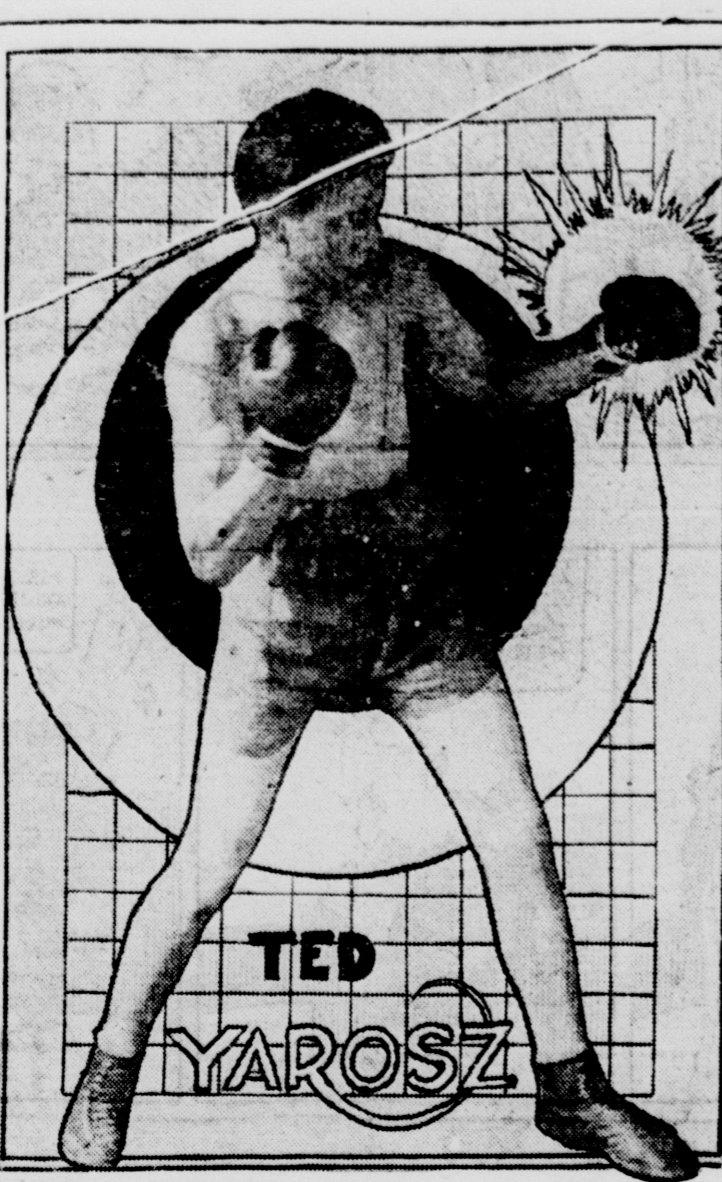

The game between the Reserves and the Midland Seconds Friday provided a new slant which may have some bearing on next Saturday's battle at the Ferry.

Bob Hall turned in a few fancy steps in the way of punt returns for the Reserves, showing remarkable ability in open field jogging. As a result, it wouldn't be surprising to see the Freshman backfield man starting against Martins Ferry.

Zook will continue his efforts this week toward strengthening the Blue and White offense. If he is successful in bringing out a driving power to couple with a good defense, the fortunes of the squad should take a turn for the better.

Attention also will be paid this week to defense against passes and end runs in which the Ferrians are pretty well versed.

MONACA SENSATION WILL BATTLE HERE

Ted Yarosz, Monaca's 19-year-old fighting fury, regarded as one of the "comers" among western Pennsylvania battlers, makes his how to district fight fans Thursday night in the six-round semi-final at the Valley A. C., Wellsville.

Yaros, a welterweight, has had 39 amateur fights, of which he won 38 and, since turning professional, seven battles and seven conquests.

Yaros is no stranger to more than a few local fight followers who saw him perform last summer at Junction park. The Monaca made his professional debut at the Junction ring and clicked immediately. He's a dynamo in action, a fair boxer and can slug with the best of them.

Yaros is paired with Carl Patton, a tough Canton Italian, who should be rugged enough to give the Pennsylvania a battle all the way.

The Monaca had his first fight since he was 17 years old, largely around Pittsburgh in the amateurs and in the Allegheny valley tournaments. He went to Boston on one occasion where he reached the semi-finals in the national tournament.

He entered professional ranks with a victory over Jackie King at Junction park. He followed this with a win over Johnny Brown and then knocked out Jack, the collapsible, McCarthy, in two rounds.

Next he kayaked Johnny Judd at McKeesport and followed with victories over Young Joe Walcott, George Bretsch and Bob Collura. His victory over Bretsch was his greatest achievement since his entry in pro ranks. Bretsch was former national amateur junior welterweight champion and, prior to his defeat by Yarosz, had not lost a decision.

The fight at that, was close, and while many of the ringers would have been eminently satisfied to call it a draw, the judges favored Yarosz.

Yaros has signed for a return match with Collura on Nov. 18.

Matchmaker Ray Foutts also announced today that he had signed Dominic Crea, Wellsville, and Johnny Virkendo, Midland, who produced one of the best scraps of the amateur series held recently in Wellsville, for a return shindig in the curtain raiser.

The fight was close when this pair first met, but Crea was given the edge.

STEVENS ORDERS DAY'S LAYOFF

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 4.—Head Coach Mal Stevens has announced that none of the players who saw service in Saturday's battle with Dartmouth will be in uniform today, but that sharp scrimmages are scheduled for tomorrow and Wednesday.

Despite rumors to the contrary, Yale came through the Green game with only slight injury to the squad.

Buckeyes Return To Home Lot

Face Northwestern at Columbus Saturday.

By H. T. Hopkins. COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—Defeated, but far from being anything like disgraced, Ohio State gridders will resume work on the practice lot here this afternoon, following their 18 to 2 loss to the University of Pittsburgh warriors in the Pennsylvania city Saturday.

On a rain-drenched field, which made ball-handling extremely precarious, the powerful Panthers received the breaks. But a superior team won. And with no discredit to the Scarlet and Gray.

Willaman's men waged a wonderful defensive battle, and were a credit to themselves, their college and their coach. As has been demonstrated in State's previous contests, the Buckeyes lacked an offensive punch. From scrimmages, they annexed only 56 yards, compared to 187 for the home-town performers. The winners made eight first downs, seven were recorded for the boys from Columbus town.

Ohio attempted 14 passes, but successfully negotiated only four for a total of 74 yards. Pitt tried five and made one good, for about 30—and its second touchdown. It might have been somewhat different if J. Pluvius had not butted in at Pittsburgh Saturday.

But not so much different. Ohio might have completed more passes. And Pitt might have scored another touchdown or two, on a dry field.

In any event, to reiterate, a superior team won—an eleven which, with Notre Dame and California, is in line for national honors.

A guy with the euphonious name of Cansha—his first moniker being Toby for short—aided by marvelous interference, rammed something like 70 yards for a touchdown before the game was well out of its swaddling clothes. He took the 30-yard pass for Pitt's second touchdown. Cansha looked like an all-American prospect of the first water.

Besides Toby's two touchdowns and the extra point, Rooney booted a placement for three points and each team gained two markers due to safeties which were occasioned by fumbles back of the goal lines.

One of the outstanding features on the water-soaked gridiron was the stand made by Ohio when Pitt secured the ball, due to a break—a fumble by Holman—on the Buckeye two-yard line. It was first down with the goal to go. But Willaman's stalwarts were like the rock of Gibraltar. The pugnaous Panthers ran on and then smashed three times—for a grand total of just a yard and a half, losing the oval on four downs.

The Bucks came out of the battle—one of the cleanest-fought tussles the writer ever witnessed—with whole skies for the most part. Bob Haubrich, tackle, had to leave the game due to an injury, but is expected to be okay in a day or so. For a slight injury to a pedal extremity.

The surprising 7 to 0 defeat of the champion Illini team by Northwestern has added interest to the Ohio-Northwestern game which is scheduled for the local stadium next Saturday.

played at Palo Alto. The bronze bowl not only was filled—it overflowed. Al Masters, graduate manager of Stanford, did not break down and weep copiously when he confessed that all 87,404 seats were filled to say nothing of 2,000 or 3,000 additional fans in the forms of ushers, student managers, directors, policemen, radio broadcasters, who filled the aisles and other nooks as the "Big Red" of Stanford and the Trojans of U. S. swapped gestures and forward passes up and down the length of the green pasture so thoughtfully perforated with lime marks every five yards.

Chalk that down as Big Game No. 1 this season for northern California's football addicts. The pompous wails of the brown bowl in Palo Alto would burst under the strain of the 90,000 fans that squeezed in to the arena and looked down on 22 players much in the manner that the playful Romans of Nero's time sat with their flowing robes and watched Christians tossed to the lions, then indeed another paragraph or so must be added to tell of Big Game No. 2 in the same stout stadium Nov. 23 when the University of California, recent conquerors of Pennsylvania, plays Stanford.

Tickets Cherished. The 87,404 authentic tickets to the Stanford-California frolic have been in the hands of the cash customers so long that the memory of man runneth not, as the poets would phrase it.

An alumnus of Stanford or of California if asked to give up his ticket to this game would hold out his right arm and to the asker would say: "There, take if you will this useful accessory, but spare my gridiron ducal."

Big Attendance. Stanford and U. S. C. this season football teams of the University of California and Stanford university first crunched in approved formation and glared at one another while the quarterback called signals for a play that might end in a touchdown or oblivion, northern California has had one "Big Game" a year—alternated between Berkeley home of the Golden Bears and Palo Alto, home of "Pop" Warner's stalwart Cardinals.

This Autumn, for the first time in pliskin chronicles, the region will have two "Big Games," with the University of Southern California at Los Angeles homing in as the third member of the Pacific Coast "Big Three" that in gridiron years to follow will become more than the now historic but crumbling trio that was Harvard, Yale, Princeton.

ELI "MERRIWELL" VERSATILE

Like a story from a book reads the athletic biography of Albion Booth, the sophomore wonder of Yale university. At the extreme left he is shown as Captain of Eli's Freshman baseball team. The "mighty atom" does not devote his entire time to sports, as his reputation in the classroom shows that he also burns midnight oil. He is shown studying for an exam, and will be in the graduate class of 1932. The picture at the right shows Albion when he starred on the Courts Captained Freshman Five. At the lower left is a close-up of the young sophomore who has made a name for himself that will stand alongside such gridiron immortals as Hinker and Caldwell, who sported the blue of Yale. To the right the star of the gridiron is shown with some of his schoolmates on the Campus at Yale.

"I played with Booth," will henceforth be the proud boast of the campus, rather than of the theater, and there are many who will assert that Albion Booth provided his audience with more dramatic action, than did Edwin Booth, the actor.

When Booth flashed into breath-taking pulsating action at the Yale Army game, he provided one of those thrills that come once in a lifetime, and like Byron, awoke next morning to find himself famous. But to New Haven, his home town, it was just a specimen of what their hero could do. For he is known as one of the greatest athletes that that neck of the woods has ever produced or seen. And so that superlative 80 yard run against Army, is just what his friends expected of Sophomore Booth. He has been using his 144 pounds of muscle and brawn, and that quick ball, in his football for the first eight years. He has inspired every team that he has played on, just as he inspired and electrified the Yale team last week. It was David slaughtering a whole team of Goliaths.

Just what kind of a chap, is this knight of the pigskin? Well, first off, he is level headed, with a wisdom far beyond his twenty-one years. He is one of three sons, his father is an employee of the Winchester Arms plant, and is proud of his three athletic sons. For both of Albion's brothers are brilliant athletes. Albert J. Booth to give him his full name, has provided quite a lot of photographs for the comfortable Booth home. There are framed pictures of Yale freshmen squads, football, baseball and basketball. And in each picture, the central figure, that of the captain, is that of Albion Booth. In basketball, he plays shortstop—in basketball, he is a forward. At high school he captained the grid team, and he led the eleven of Milford academy team to fame and victory. At Yale, he is cutting no classes or lectures despite his wonderful achievement. He is taking a business administration course, and hopes to enter business in a couple of years.

Coach Mal Stevens holds his ace in reserve, and then turns him loose to do his stuff. And Albion praises his coach and the team, and gives them credit for his great performances.

Referee, Hugh (Penn); umpire, Johnston (Penn State); head linesman, N. Sterrett (Geneva).

Pro Grid 11 Lands Another

Downs New Castle Combine Here, 12 to 0.

FAVORED by fair skies but somewhat treacherous underfooting as a result of rains, the East Liverpool Pros defeated the Penn State Service club of New Castle, Pa., yesterday afternoon at Sherwood. The score was 12 to 0.

The Potters scored in the first quarter and again in the last. Chappie Finley almost single handed hustled the ball on end runs about three-fourths the length of the field, finally totting it over the goal line for the initial touchdown.

The battle was waged on more or less even terms during the second and third periods and it was not until the final quarter that the East Liverpool attack netted results again.

With less than five minutes of play remaining, Halpate threw a long pass to Boso who scored on the play.

Court Overrules Carbisello Plea

Wellsville Man, Convicted on Liquor Charges, Carries Case to Court of Appeals.

WELLSVILLE, O., Nov. 4.—Joseph Carbisello, Wellsville, convicted by a jury in common pleas court on a charge of manufacturing distilled liquor, today carried his case to the court of appeals.

This action was taken after Judge W. F. Lones in common pleas court overruled his motion for a new trial.

His bond was set at $5,000. Carbisello was arrested with the polling places. The booth in Precinct B of the Fourth ward has been changed from the Fultz building in Main street to the Wilson garage in Aten avenue and Commerce street.

SOLDIER HURT IN AUTO CRASH

C. E. Vermillion, member of the 50th service squad, Langley Field air corps at Hampton, Va., is suffering from injuries sustained last week when an automobile in which he and several other service men were riding, collided with another car near Toano, not far from Richmond, Va.

Private John Pushon was charged with reckless driving and was assessed a fine of $25 and costs, from which he appealed.

Mrs. C. S. Randall, whose husband was driving the other car, was severely cut and bruised.

Vermillion was taken to Langley Field in the post ambulance. W. E. Lee, W. E. Welmer and Pushon received slight injuries. The front left fenders of the two cars locked.

Her skull was fractured. Lester Brown, also of Steubenville, who was driving the motorcycle, escaped with scratches.

The accident occurred as the motorcycle was crossing the Pennsylvania railroad tracks. The rear wheel of the vehicle struck an obstruction and bounced, throwing the girl to the ground.

So Weak Could Hardly Stand Up Before Taking "ORANGE ROOT"

Mr. J. F. Anderson Says His Strength and Pep Have Been Restored to Such an Extent Feels Like a New Man — Stomach and Liver Troubles Ended Forever, Says.

Mr. J. F. Anderson of Smiths Ferry, near East Liverpool, Ohio, is one happy man today, for "ORANGE ROOT" has delivered him from years of liver and stomach suffering. He says: "I have been bothered with stomach and liver troubles for some time, and became in a general run down condition. My food did not digest and caused me much gas and bloating. I had headaches and dizzy spells and dark spots would come before my eyes and every bone in my body seemed to ache. When I came home at night I could hardly stand up. I was so weak. Every bit of my strength was entirely gone. I am a farmer and need all my strength and energy so I did not know what to do next. I have been reading about ORANGE ROOT and decided to try it as it was helping so many people in East Liverpool. The wonders it worked on me were astonishing, for my aches and pains have all left and my strength and pep have been restored until I feel like a new man. The golden Nuggets surely do work the bowels and stir up the liver, for I have not had a headache or dizzy spell since taking them. My stomach and liver are functioning properly and I feel good all over. It is the finest medicine I have ever taken and I am glad to recommend ORANGE ROOT and the Nuggets to anyone suffering as I did and in a weakened, rundown condition." This famous compound is composed of Golden Seal, Celery Seeds, Pipsissewa, Nox Vomica, Gentian and a host of valuable herbs combined with pure IRON which presents the greatest combination of strengthening and building herbs known to man. It is restoring hundreds right here in this city to glorious HEALTH, and will do the same for you. Go at once to Mathews Medicine Store, get 3 or 4 bottles of this marvelous tonic, a box of the golden Nuggets, take them according to directions, and WATCH the SPEEDY improvement in your condition. Prices: TONIC $1.25, Nuggets, 50c. To quickly relieve a dangerous "Hang-over" Cough, Night Cough, Deep seated Cough, Bronchial or Asthmatic Cough, take H. J. CHEASOTE EMULSION Compound. It never fails. Price 65c at Mathews Medicine Store. All drug stores in nearby towns sell great quantities of these remedies.

As We Grow Older

We Should Keep Careful Watch of our Kidneys.

KIDNEY disorders are too serious to ignore. It pays to heed the early signals. Scanty, burning or too frequent kidney excretions; a drowsy, listless feeling; lameness, stiffness and constant backache are timely warnings.

To promote normal kidney action and assist your kidneys in cleansing your blood of poisonous wastes, use Doan's Pills. Used and recommended the world over. Sold by good dealers everywhere.

50,000 Users Endorse Doan's:

Mrs. Alice Gunnis, 3440 Harrison Ave., Detroit, Mich., says: "I suffered with a dull ache across my back that bothered me a great deal when I was doing my housework. When stooping, my back pained so that it was a task to straighten up again. My kidneys acted very irregularly, but after taking Doan's Pills I felt fine again and the backache left me. I gladly recommend Doan's."
